The Road to Recovery Begins Here

2020.

The year of new IMO regulations, the clean energy agenda and technology-driven innovation. And instead, our industry has faced more disruption in one year than we would expect in a single lifetime.

At Seatrade Maritime Middle East Virtual, come online and join a critical conference agenda, designed to help you navigate the challenges, threats and opportunities facing our industry.

Conference Highlights

THE ROAD TO RECOVERY

The coronavirus pandemic has impacted shipping in critical ways, from cargo volumes and freight rates to newbuilding delivery schedules and, most significantly, the working conditions of its workforce.

ACCELERATING SHIPPING'S CLEAN ENERGY TRANSITION

There is a broad industry consensus that the decarbonisation of shipping is an absolute priority for the industry. As the range of possible solutions to subsequent challenges expands, the need to coalesce around a clear strategy that supports the targets of IMO 2050 is now urgent.

SMART GREEN HI-TECH EFFICIENCY

OPERATOR AND PORT LOGISTICS SERVICE PROVIDER

Welcome
MESSAGE

It is my great honor, as the host of this grand event this year, on behalf of Shanghai International Port (Group) Co., LTD., to have welcomed all of you to the Seatrade International Maritime Awards Ceremony.

For the first time, Shanghai, China was chosen as the host city for the event, which is of great significance to the construction of Shanghai International Shipping Center of China as well as to the development of the Port of Shanghai. As a hub port with the best connectivity in the world, Shanghai Port achieved the container throughput of 43.33 million TEU in 2019, ranking first in the world container port for 10 consecutive years. According to the "Xinhua Baltic International Shipping Center Development Index 2020", Shanghai ranks among the top three international shipping centers for the first time.

The shipping and port industry, as one of the key links connecting the world, has played an irreplaceable role in the global fight against COVID-19. Against the backdrop, we all are supposed to further strengthen international connectivity and regional cooperation, further enhance exchanges, mutual assistance and information sharing, and work closely together to address various challenges, so as to make new and greater contributions to the well-being of mankind, the sound development of world trade and the port and shipping industry.

Finally, I would like to express my special thanks to the support of the Ministry of Communications, the Shanghai Municipal People's Government and relevant departments, and Special thanks to all the guests from shipping companies, domestic and abroad ports, logistics companies, and organisations and institutions in the industry. And I expect to cooperate with Seatrade Informa Markets next time to co-organise this grand ceremony.

WINNER: MEDLOG

Concept of the project revolved around creating a seamless flow in the logistics chain from point of origin to final destination, thus optimising efficiency in the most cost-effective manner.

The bottlenecks were obvious. Deteriorating roads surrounding ports, complex logistical & clearing processes, and lack of reliable equipment available to manage the transition from point A to B. Medlog eliminated the consequences of using infrastructure that surrounded the ports by setting up a barge terminal, streamlined the clearing & forwarding complexities through its Inland Container Depot, and Empty Return Depot, and acquired all the relevant equipment.
